Gabba Rug

Kashmir

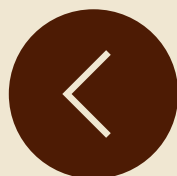

A Gabba rug (also known as a Gabbeh rug) is a Persian tribal rug known for its thick pile, bold simplicity, and artistic charm. Woven by nomadic tribes like the Qashqai and Luri in southwestern Iran, Gabba rugs are hand-knotted using coarse wool with a high, cushy pile—ideal for warmth and softness. Unlike the intricate patterns of city rugs, Gabba rugs feature minimalistic or abstract designs: solid fields of color, small animals, human figures, or geometric shapes. Their name comes from the Persian word “Gabbeh,” meaning raw or natural, reflecting their spontaneous and personal design approach. These rugs are often dyed with rich natural tones like red, blue, yellow, and brown, giving each piece a unique, expressive quality. Today, Gabba rugs are beloved for their rustic authenticity and contemporary appeal, making them a favorite among modern decorators and collectors seeking a cozy yet culturally rich Persian rug.

Namda Rug

Kashmir

Namda is a hand-felted textile produced mainly in the Kashmir Valley, as well as in Himachal Pradesh, Rajasthan, and Gujarat. Unlike woven rugs, Namda is made by entangling wool fibers using water, soap, and mechanical pressure, creating a dense, non-woven fabric. The term "Namda" derives from the Sanskrit word Namada, meaning woollen stuff, and historically referred to an additional felted layer placed over the everyday floor covering called gabba
